DAILY DEVOTIONAL

Worry Not!

"Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:6-7 (NKJV)

Have you ever worried about school or your future? Or wondered how God is going to provide?

Maybe you're worried since you're not in a good financial situation. Or maybe you're worried that you won't fit in or make friends. I know I've definitely been anxious about some of these things. But God doesn't want us to ever be anxious. Stressing shows that we don't fully trust God will provide. So picture how you would feel if one of your friends didn't trust you. Now take that feeling and now you know what God feels every time we stress or get anxious. In 1 Samuel chapters 21, 22 and 24, David provides a perfect example of using prayer and supplication instead of fretting during life or death situations. In response, God helps and gives David food to eat in addition to protecting him by allowing priest Ahimelech to give David a sword. (1 Samuel 21)

When worrying we need to recenter our focus on God and not the problem. Sometimes we have to pray and ask Him for forgiveness for not trusting, then ask Him to remove the worry and unbelief and replace it with His trust and faithfulness.

The most important takeaway I want to leave with you are the following Scripture passages: Jeremiah 29:11, Matthew 6:31-34 and in particular Romans 8:28. Read them and I hope they bring comfort to you.

Partner to Establish Pathfinder Ministry in Mongolia

This week, over 30 Pathfinders and staff from the Mongolia Mission are attending the Chosen International Pathfinder Camporee! This is the result of the Lord's leading in a partnership between Mongolia Mission and the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. At the 2014 Forever Faithful International Pathfinder Camporee, youth leaders from Mongolia Mission and the Georgia-Cumberland Conference (GCC) partnered together with an exciting goal in mind—to strengthen the Mongolia Mission Pathfinder ministry in order to attract more young people and involve them in the churches of Mongolia.

George Kawamura,
Gege Saran

During the next five years, GCC Pathfinder leadership trained youth leaders in Mongolia and Mongolia Mission Pathfinder leaders attended GCC training events in the United States. The first Mongolia Mission Pathfinder camporee in 2017 was a special highlight of the program development, and GCC Pathfinders were honored to attend and participate.

As the spirit of Pathfinding started to take hold, interest and participation increased. When this project started, Mongolia Mission had two Pathfinder clubs with a total of roughly 30-35 Pathfinders. In 2019, the Pathfinder membership in Mongolia has grown to about 250 in nine official clubs and eight unofficial clubs. The Lord has truly blessed!

This growth would not be possible without the faithful Mongolia Pathfinder leaders. They are carrying forward the pioneering spirit of Pathfinders in their homeland. One example of a leader who lives this pioneer spirit is Gege Saran, whom the GCC Pathfinders visiting Mongolia had the privilege of meeting. They were inspired by the following story about Gege's life which is adapted from Mission 360 magazine's article "The Soldier Who Became a Missionary,"

Good Medicine

Christian ventriloquist and comedian, Ryan Bomgardner, introduced each night's program with his puppet, Chico the Lion, at the 2014 Forever Faithful Camporee. Now he's back at Camporee 2019 with his puppet, Lily the Lamb, and has been entertaining the crowd at each nighttime program.

Ryan started ventriloquism when he was 10 years old. He had his first performance in front of people at age 12. By the time he was 21, Ryan was doing 130 performances a year. Now he typically receives over 500 requests each year and performs approximately 150 of them annually. His ventriloquism has taken him places ranging from First Baptist Church of Atlanta, Christian cruises and six continents to a small shed where he performed for the survivors of the Amish school shooting.

He has also been spotted in the Cincinnati Enquirer and on the History Channel. Ryan has toured the United States performing for thousands at youth specialties conferences including Creation Fest, Youth in Christ Conference and the Parachute Fest in New Zealand. When he's not performing with his puppets, he is also a comedy columnist and host of a regional television program.

Ryan loves to use his puppets and humor to bring life-changing biblical challenges to people of all ages. "I love to make people laugh and share Jesus! It doesn't get better than that," he says.

When asked why he thinks comedy is important Ryan mentions how the Bible says that laughter is good medicine.

During his free time, Ryan enjoys playing with his kids and seeing sights as he travels.

Ryan, Lily and friends will be at the Talent Stage on Friday afternoon from 1-2 p.m. for those who would like to meet them.

Safety and Main Stage Seating Tips

1. Have at least one adult at your campsite at all times.
2. Adults should accompany Pathfinders at all times.
3. When saving seats at the Nighttime Program arena, remember the rule of: seat one and save one. Only one person can save one seat for one other person. Do not leave your seating unattended. All unattended items left will be taken to Lost and Found or thrown away. Portable chairs are strongly recommended. People on tarps cannot see as well and take up a lot of space.

MAINSTAGE TALENT

The Naibaho Brothers Ministry performing at the Camporee is two Indonesian American brothers who are members of the Loma Linda Indonesian Adventist Church and attend Loma Linda Academy. They usually play music as a trio with their younger brother who is still an Adventurer.

Herschel Naibaho will be attending Grade 8 next near and started music lessons at the age of 5. God has gifted him with multiple talents. He plays piano, violin, guitar and clarinet. Hezekial is going into Grade 6 and also started music lessons when he was 5. He plays piano and guitar and loves to sing.

Since 2015, Naibaho Brothers Ministry has visited the elderly to share their music and help them not to feel lonely. They have performed for the Loma Linda Broadcasting Network and also had opportunities to play music at some other churches in the Loma Linda area and Paradise Adventist Church in Las Vegas. They say, “Music is part of our life and we thank God for the talents He gave to us.”

Out-of-this-world Pathfinders

The expression “out-of-this-world” is mostly used as a figure of speech. However, a group of Pathfinders from the small island of Puerto Rico took it literally. They threw their stones (spheres) beyond the Earth’s orbit and up into space.

Evelyn Santiago, a homeschool mother, took these Pathfinders’ dreams seriously when they expressed their love of space. The Pathfinders had been able to appreciate the stars, free from light pollution, during the latter part of 2017 after Hurricane Maria crippled the island’s electrical grid and interrupted all service infrastructure.

But these Pathfinders wanted to do more than just look at space. They began to plan. During their Pathfinder camporee they mingled with other Pathfinders despite the challenges with electricity and inoperative bridges in areas close to camp. Eventually Evelyn successfully rallied some of the teenagers from the northwestern part of Puerto Rico to participate in a challenge that would take place outside of the Earth’s atmosphere.

The idea was somewhat far fetched because most of the competitions took place on Sabbath and the best teams come from the big cities. However, this club was not intimidated by the odds and the teams that were against them. Seven Pathfinders who all excel in the STEM field: Ezekiel Velázquez, Jeremy Sebastian, Ricardo Muñiz, Charliz Rivera, Nataly Nieto, Cheselyn Morales and Ariana Echeverria joined the 2018 SPHERE ISS Challenge as a team named Robogen. Throughout their training, the Robogen team refused to train or get help from NASA on Sabbath. They faced no easy feat. Their challenge was to create codes and program small, floating robotic satellites called SPHERES.

These spheres, with their “infinity stones” resemblance, are being used at the International Space Station (ISS). The name, SPHERES, is an acronym for Synchronized Position

The competition was important for them, as there were still parts of the island without electrical power, internet or cell phone service and they wanted to demonstrate that the island had risen from the devastation

Bible and a Buck

Help share the message of Jesus with people all around the world. Even if you never step foot out of your own country, you will be given the opportunity to have a tremendous impact on the lives of others through our 2019 Bible and a Buck collection. Our goal for the 2019 Camporee is to collect 50,000 Bibles for distribution along with the much needed U.S. dollar donations to help make it happen.

Bring an English or Spanish Bible to be collected before any Main Stage nighttime program. Along with your Bible, bring one U.S. dollar bill, in an envelope, but don’t place it inside your Bible. Dollar bills will be collected separately. This money will help with distribution of these Bibles to countries with little or no access to the Bible. In 2014, we collected over 32,000 Bibles and $18,000 for distribution.

Bibles may be dropped off every night at the Southeast Gate entrances at the Main Stage. Look for the Bible collection banners.

by Andrew McChesney.

“Saran grew up in Mongolia and was a sick child. His mother thought feeding him might help him, so he ate a lot of food. Unfortunately, he became overweight during his childhood and teen years. In ninth grade he weighed 200 pounds, even though he was not very tall. The extra weight made his legs ache; he had to use crutches to go to school. His mother was concerned and took him to a physician, who determined that both Saran’s legs needed to be amputated. Saran told his mother that Jesus would heal him instead.

At age 10, Saran began attending an Adventist church. His mother did not approve, and even spanked him for attending church. She destroyed his Bible, too. Saran was not swayed, however, and he read his new Bible in secret.

When Saran’s family moved to a new town, he found another Adventist church and started working in their vegetable garden. The church was nine miles from his house and he would walk that distance daily. The exertion was painful, but every day he would pray that God would heal him. The pastor encouraged him by saying that exercise is good for health.

During three months of walking, Saran lost 65 pounds and the pain in his legs stopped. He gave all the credit to Jesus. When his mother heard the clean bill of health from the doctor, she, too, realized that Jesus had healed her son.

Saran joined the military and served as a United Nations Peacekeeper in Afghanistan and South Sudan. The military officers loved the young soldier who was polite and didn’t drink alcohol. Yet life was not easy in the military. Saran’s fellow soldiers beat him every night for one month, but he was determined to be faithful to Jesus.

After his time in the military, Saran was asked if he and his new wife would be Global Mission pioneers in a remote part of Mongolia. Today Saran oversees the only Adventist church in Bulgan, a town of 12,000 people. One of the first things Saran did was to establish a Pathfinder Club, which gave him the opportunity to teach the children about Jesus.”

Saul

DRAMA SPOTLIGHT: Jesse Rademacher

Jesse Rademacher is starring as Saul in this year's Chosen International Camporee. He has been a professor of animation at Southern Adventist University since 2010 and previously worked in film and video games doing animation and special effects.

Jesse grew up in Lansing, Michigan, and spent two years attending Michigan State University before finishing his undergraduate degree at Southern. He has a master's degree from Savannah College of Art & Design.

Though Jesse had no previous experience with Pathfinders, he viewed some clips of past Camporees while auditioning for this role. His three children, an 11-year-old daughter and 8-year-old twins, a boy and a girl, may become involved in the future.

Jesse caught the theater bug in fourth grade when he performed in his first show. He went on to participate in plays during high school and college, then community theater. He also produces short films when he can. Jesse says, "I like things that encompass the gamut of human emotion, that can show complexity of character. Trying to explore ideas." He currently performs with a Christian dance and theater company in Tennessee that does shows with Christian elements woven throughout. His most recent role was playing Scrooge with a Christian twist.

One of Jesse's students at Southern told him about this opportunity. He sent in an online reel and ended up auditioning in person near the end of the time period. Jesse enjoyed drawing on life experiences to add to the complexity of playing the role, in particular Saul's transition from a figure adored by the public to his slip into madness.

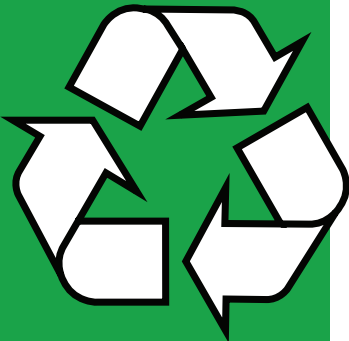

Jesse says, "Saul felt like God was rejecting him, but he wasn't taking responsibility for his own actions. I think I probably knew that before, but the importance of that lack of responsibility was really driven home in my mind. Not giving his heart to God was the problem."

He continues, "Saul is a warning to not follow your own path and David is the model of a joyous relationship with God. I really like the scene where he's talking about writing songs to the Lord. Saul is becoming self-absorbed and David is out in the field writing love songs to God. I think that's a model for how our hearts should be. And it's a reminder to keep our love for God alive because that helps us stay on course."

In his spare time, Jesse enjoys writing novels and making art of all sorts, including illustrations. His favorite quote is by Edmund Burke: "Men of intemperate minds cannot be free. Their passions forge their fetters."

Please keep all the actors in prayer as they share the story of David with us. Actor meet and greets will be from 2–3 p.m., Aug 14–17, at the daytime talent stage.

Go green by recycling at Camporee! You can help by picking up all your trash and placing it in a dumpster. That trash will then be sent to a recycling facility where recyclable items will be sorted and separated from the trash. Save our Earth!

The Sky's the Limit

This year at Camporee, the Lake Union public campus ministries group is selling a great selection of food in the Adventist Community Services Disaster Response truck in the Food Court.

Israel Ramos, director for public campus ministries and coordinator for public campus ministry for the Michigan Conference and the Lake Union, has a big vision—to create a mobile Center of Influence that will be able to impact the city of Detroit, the Lake Union and beyond. After 20 years in public campus ministries, he has discovered that the best way to intersect with a collegiate community is through food service. There's a growing interest in vegetarian and vegan cuisine and the onsite food truck at Oshkosh offers some great options.

“Food provides the opportunity to engage in conversations, to establish friendships,”

The menu includes Walking Mexican street corn, Korean barbecue tacos, quesadillas and the Impossible Harris Burger, named after Craig Harris, the Lake Union Pathfinder leader.

There are eight individuals working at the PCM food truck, the majority are young professionals or involved in public campus ministries. They hope to test their products and sales skills here to see if this initiative might be successful in Detroit. Israel says, “If God provides the funds, the sky's the limit. We would love to have a building and outpost center. Our vision is big.”

Two programs are being used in combination to facilitate this outreach mission. A one-year mission program, run by the General Conference Youth Department, calls for young adults to take a year out of their life to serve as missionaries in large cities. The city of Detroit is one of the largest cities in the Lake Union and has the largest Muslim population outside the Middle East. It is an intersection of inner city and corporate America. The Spirit of Prophecy calls for urban ministry and this is their first step toward accomplishing that. The second initiative is called the Center of Influence and that involves the mobile food truck.

The Lake Union's public campus ministry is based at Michigan State University. Every year they run experimental programs to learn how to be more effective in reaching the students. Over a Labor Day weekend, they had a barbecue located on the same block with fraternity and sorority houses. The Muslim community was attracted to the event and more than 100 non-Adventists attended. Every year since then they've hosted a health documentary screening in their backyard and invited the community.

“Food provides the opportunity to engage in conversations, to establish friendships,” Israel explains. “We want people to think about Seventh-day Adventists as the people that are engaged in the community, that love other people, that know the Word of God. If they accept our Bible studies then praise the Lord. If they don't, we don't want to alienate them because they're not tracking with us. Food is the best buffer in that experience.”

Kettering Adventist Healthcare sponsored a 5K Fun Run on Thursday morning. First-place finishers were Nolan Siverio (Pensacola Gators, Florida Conference, Southern Union) with a time of 21.28 and Lorraine Baker (Nebraska Conference, Mid-America Union) with a time of 24.02, pictured here with Victor Brown, talent acquisition strategist.

Zesty & Unforgettable

Pizza is one of the most popular traditional Italian dishes and is appreciated not only in Italy but throughout the world. At Camporee this year, the Italian delegation is happy to be selling their own original “Pizza Margherita” with tomato and mozzarella. This pizza will be especially unique because it is made with a leavening process that follows the Italian tradition.

“We decided to make pizza because we wanted to take a little bit of Italy with us on our travels, but, most especially because we loved the idea of sharing our pizza with all of you,” explains Ignazio Barbuscia, youth ministries director for the Italian Union of Seventh-day Adventists.

The Italian delegation consists of 35 Pathfinders from 15 clubs all over Italy including Rome, Milan, Florence, Padua, Turin and Como. They opened up registrations one year ago and gathered all the participants. Some of the Pathfinders are friends who already knew each other, but many of them met for the first time at the airport.

“When we started thinking about coming to the Oshkosh Camporee we imagined that with the economic crisis in Italy very few of our Pathfinders would be able to participate. We thought at most 4–5 people. But at the end we had 35! God is good and He sees far more than us. He has helped us in many ways. He helped the families and also the organizers to meet people willing to support and sponsor us,” says Barbuscia.

For many of these Pathfinders, it will be their first time at Camporee. They are excited to spend time with old and new friends, laugh and make new memories. “We know that our amazing God will be with us at that table in those days making our experience absolutely unforgettable and zesty,” they say.

To go taste some of their pizza for yourself, visit them at booth #1 in the Food Court.

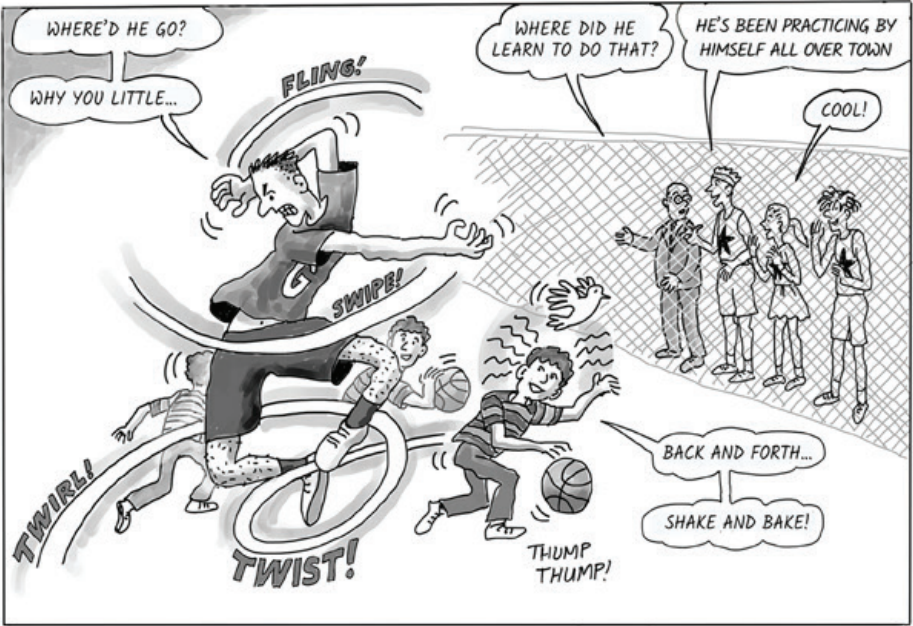

The entire set of these commemorative posters is now available in both 8x10 and 11x15 sizes. There are only 99 signed 11x15 Chosen posters! A big discount is offered if you buy the entire set of three images. These stunning photographs will make for a great gift for family and friends who could not attend. Cash/credit/debit accepted.

On their way to Oshkosh, the Italian delegation visited Chicago.

Making an Eternal Difference

For Gureni and Lynn Lukwaro from Sharjah, United Arab Emirates, this is one of many camporees that they have attended. Since 2010, they have been to five Union and Division camporees in Finland, Malaysia, Thailand, Indonesia and Taiwan. They also attended Forever Faithful in 2014.

Gureni and Lynn have been voluntarily coordinating the Pathfinder and Adventurer ministry throughout the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region since 2014. There are now over 400 Pathfinders and Adventurers in their region and an increasing number of non-Adventists who are joining as their families are attracted to Pathfinder activities and values. Several have been baptized and their families have been drawn to the faith. Recently, one homeschooling family so avidly promoted the club that their entire homeschooling group is now joining.

“We have seen our young people gain courage to share their faith and potentially impact their friends and relatives through what they learn in the Pathfinder Club,”

“This is what we enjoy the most about what we do, making an eternal difference in small and big ways in the lives of those we serve,” says Gureni.

In addition to seeing how their club has attracted non-Adventists

to join, the Lukwaros have also seen Adventist families and young people become re-involved with the church after joining the Pathfinder program. “We have seen our young people gain courage to share their faith and potentially impact their friends and relatives through what they learn in the Pathfinder Club,” Gureni explains. “Most importantly, we have seen lives changed and surrendered to the Lord through the Pathfinder program.”

The Lukwaros are attending Camporee with people from their club in Sharjah. Because they are field leaders, they also have members from other clubs around the Gulf from places like Dubai, Qatar and Kuwait. All of them are expatriates from Tanzania, Nigeria, India, Philippines, Venezuela and South Africa. They are especially thankful that they were able to get enough visas for 30 people to come.

This will be their club’s second time at Oshkosh. They had 14 people attend Forever Faithful and they have 30 now. The club is looking forward to connecting with other Pathfinder honors that they wouldn’t be able to do back home, trading pins, watching the nightly programs and working with Project Chosen, the door-to-door outreach program.

When asked if he thinks Camporees are important for Pathfinders Gureni says, “Absolutely! Especially for isolated clubs like ours. It gives a chance for our Pathfinders to meet fellow Pathfinders from other places. This helps them realize that they are not alone, that there are many more like them doing the same things and finding the same path to the Savior.”

ORIGINAL POETRY

CHOSEN

You have not chosen me but I have chosen you
God said this and His word is always true
Can you imagine what turmoil your life would be?
If you did not heed the call of Jesus, come follow me?

Hold fast to the Saviour of the world today
He will always lend you a listening ear
His mercies are everlasting, His love is free
He took time out to die for you and me

On Christ the solid Rock we can stand
He has moulded us with his mighty hand
He has placed us in a very safe place
He wants us to seek His Holy face

Send a revival upon us, oh loving Lord
You have chosen us to spread your word
We accept the call and reach out to one and all
Dear Saviour prop us up, please don’t let us fall

Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and praise
Let the world rejoice as our lovely voices we raise Sing loud and clear of His amazing grace, oh yes!
Enter into the gates of safety and you’ll be blessed

Never let the devil get wind of your thought
Your love for God can neither be sold or bought
You have been chosen, He thinks good thoughts of you
And your acceptance of His life is long overdue
You are Chosen!

Pathfinders to Fill 5,000 Golden Buckets

“During a disaster, 5-gallon buckets filled with much-needed cleaning supplies are like gold to someone who just survived a natural disaster,” Marshall Gonzales, Southwestern Union Conference and Texas Conference Adventist Community Services (ACS) director, shares. “When a disaster strikes, we distribute the filled buckets, what we call clean-up buckets, by the thousands, so it is imperative to have clean-up buckets on hand.

“These conferences have gone through disaster situations—they will really appreciate these clean-up buckets the Pathfinders are filling,”

Supplies to fill 5,000 buckets were delivered to the Pathfinder International Camporee ACS station in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. They include household cleaner, dishwashing soap, scrubber sponges, scrub brushes, cleaning towels, dust masks, kitchen, disposable and work gloves, trash bags, laundry detergent, paper towels, disinfectant wipes, a clothesline, clothespins and insect repellent spray.

During the camporee, Pathfinders have the opportunity to fill those buckets and earn the “Serving Communities” Pathfinder honor at the same time. “The Pathfinder clubs have been amazing,” shares Julie Gonzales, Southwestern Union and Texas Conference ACS associate director. “Many, knowing our deadline, have come back repeatedly. The Alvarado Spanish Seventh-day Adventist Church Pathfinder club from Alvarado, Texas, spent three hours filling buckets.”

“We really appreciate the Pathfinder support for this great endeavor, as well as the ACS volunteers here from Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Maryland, New York, Texas and Washington,” Sung Kwon, North American Division ACS executive director states. “We could not achieve this goal without everyone’s generosity.”

The Arkansas-Louisiana, Iowa-Missouri, and Greater New York conferences of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will take the clean-up buckets back home with them to have on hand to distribute when needed.

“These conferences have gone through disaster situations—they will really appreciate these clean-up buckets the Pathfinders are filling,” Kwon adds.

As of Wednesday, Aug. 14, 2019, more than 2,500 buckets had been filled.

If you know a Pathfinder Club at Oshkosh, encourage them to stop by the ACS station way in the back behind the hangers (look for the ACS truck) and fill a bucket or two. With everyone’s help, the goal will be reached. While there, pray for the people who will receive the buckets as it will be a challenging time for them. The clean-up bucket may just be the encouragement they need to persevere.

Reusable Camping Equipment & Leftover Food Items

If you have attended past camporees, you may have seen a large number of tents, chairs, sleeping bags, etc. in or near the dumpsters at the end of event. We are hoping to change that this year!

Because many clubs pre-order and pick up their gear in Oshkosh, they are unable to take it with them when they return home. If your club is one of those, please consider donating it by placing it at one of the designated collection sites. Plans are being made to have enclosed trailers on the grounds to receive any reusable camping gear, which will then be donated. Some will be given to homeless/street ministries in the area, and some to the group that will be going to Cuba to help organize Pathfinder clubs there.

If you know your club will be leaving camping gear, please email Becky (beckyz1228@gmail.com) with information regarding what you will be donating, and the quantity. This will help facilitate plans for adequate collection sites on the grounds.

Leftover food items will also be collected and can be dropped off at the same collection sites. Food collected will be sorted and distributed to area food pantries.

This is a great way to bless others as you prepare to leave Oshkosh.

Equipment accepted:

Camping gear such as tents, shelters, sleeping bags, chairs, coolers, etc.

Non-perishable food items accepted:

Canned or boxed food, produce such as potatoes, watermelon, unopened bread products, juice boxes, water bottles, etc.

Items NOT ACCEPTED:

We will not accept any open/unsealed food items, such as milk, bread, etc., or broken equipment.

Collection sites, days & times:

- Sites: One located near the International Village, and the other near the South gate. These trailers will be on-site all week.
- Days: Collections received on Saturday and Sunday
- Times: Open at 2 p.m. on Saturday and then continuously through Sunday afternoon.

Out-of-this-World Pathfinders,

Hold, Engage, Reorient, Experimental Satellites. The Robogen Pathfinders had to prepare the computer programming for these important and expensive robots because these stones had the potential to be "thrown" at space. Teams in Russia, Armenia and the United States all competed to represent their nations and write the best code for operating the satellites in space.

Puerto Rico had never participated in this competition and several teams from the large cities of the island were training for the finals. The competition was important for them, as there were still parts of the island without electrical power, internet or cell phone service and they wanted to demonstrate that the island had risen from the devastation. Nelson Morales, Evelyn's husband was working hard with Robogen teammates every week. They even had the opportunity to meet with Juan Román, a second-generation Seventh-day Adventist and deputy director of the Engineering and Technology Directorate at Goddard Space Flight Center, via a "broken" videoconference.

The day of the competition came, and all the teams in Puerto Rico sent their codes and the programs to control the spheres. Against all the odds, Robogen controlled their spheres with precision and coordination and became the number one team in all of Puerto Rico. Even though that was enough for them, they got ready for the international competition.

The team then traveled to one of Puerto Rico's main cities to connect with the International Space Station. Teams from 15 U.S. states and from other countries met to try their codes on the spheres in real-time. Astronauts interacted with the teams and provided feedback on how the teams were handling the robots. The Robogen team was there in their Pathfinder uniforms. In the end their codes were successful but other teams were more precise. Even then, it was an outstanding victory for Puerto Rico and the Pathfinders.

Most of the Robogen group members are at Camporee this year. To get a small taste of robotics for yourself take time to stop by the Adventist Robotics site in Hangar C.
